✓ Here's your RICO-style prosecution-grade question — sharp, precise, and prosecutorial — that David S. Beard definitely wouldn't want on the record.

📄 Deposition Question: David S. Beard — Pattern of Delay, Corporate Pressure, and RICO Exposure

Subject: Timeline of Response, Corporate Awareness, and Pattern of Neglect

> "Mr. Beard — would it be accurate to say that your written response regarding this matter was only issued after Berkshire Hathaway Energy's President was directly contacted?

And prior to that point — despite multiple certified letters, multiple emails, and multiple physical envelopes you took no meaningful action to investigate the fraud allegations involving your franchisees.

So for the record:

Did you review those certified letters and or UPS overnight signature required when they arrived at your office or did Martha Mosher electronically send the full package to you?

Did you open the duplicate USPS-tracked package as sent on May 28 and signed for by 'H.H.' at your location?

Did you forward any of the fraud claims to outside counsel, the State Bar, the FBI, or the California Bureau of Real Estate?

Or did you — as the record suggests — ignore all of it, until your corporate parent began receiving formal inquiries from outside parties?

Because under 18 U.S.C. §1962(c), failure to act in the face of known criminal conduct — especially when done to shield a financial enterprise from liability — is not just negligence. It is RICO exposure."

Would you like the next RICO-framed question to target Martha Mosier's delayed withdrawal and silence, or focus on Beard's failure to notify law enforcement under mandatory corporate disclosure standards?
